

Loriet > Articles > Community > PowerPlay

The PowerPlay SuperSTARS Symposium

Domenica Karbid, co-founder of Loriet Performance Apparel and designer Dayanne Danier, founder of Bien Abye, were interviewed by SuperSTARS Kameryn and Tyler.

PowerPlay was founded in 1998 and is inspired by the work of Billie Jean King and other trailblazing individuals.

Friday, July 27th – New York, New York

PowerPlay NYC held its 2012 SuperSTARS Symposium, a one-day event with sports clinics, life skills workshops and mentoring.

The Symposium included special appearances and workshops by the NY Sharks women's football team, Wells Fargo, Loriet Sports, and a number of professional men and women who volunteered as mentors for this special day.

PowerPlay NYC is a nonprofit organization dedicated to educating and empowering girls and young women through sports, teaching life skills and fostering self-confidence and self-esteem.

PowerPlay's programs provide girls and young women with the opportunity to feel connected, competent and confident, learn valuable life skills, and connect with female role models. To learn more about PowerPlay and how you can support their mission visit them at: www.powerplaynyc.org

