

Tennis IDENTITY

« Olympic Tennis Fashion 2012. Who's wearing what and why. | Main | Olympic tennis fashion: Lisa Raymond + Varvara Lepchenko pump up the flag \(and economy\) in Eliza Audley. »

July 23, 2012

New men's tennis fashion from Lorient.

The winged lion is both mythical beast and symbol for performance brand Lorient. Invincible looking creature either way.

Here on Roman Borvanov (Rep. of Moldova), the lion adorns the Rome Performance Shirt (the plan is for a white/blue combo at the US Open), $50 USD. Their solid shorts are also $50.

The Rome is inspired by a soccer jersey with a cut and design that visually enhances upper body movement and power.

The apparel is appealing to those players who want upscale performance apparel but with a more understated look that is their own.

Anyone interested in being sponsored by the brand should look here.

Find it at Lorient.

SEARCH THE SITE

OR see categories + recent posts in left side bar

Search

Google™ Custom Search

available at
Tennis Warehouse

RECENT POSTS

Bracing that tennis injury. New from BRD Sport.

Olympic tennis fashion: Lisa Raymond + Varvara Lepchenko pump up the flag \(and economy\) in Eliza Audley.

New men's tennis fashion from Lorient.

Olympic Tennis Fashion 2012. Who's wearing what and why.

Three new products for your tennis or gym bag.

Fila to launch a first citizen-designed tennis dress. Looking for innovation in new places.

Giveaway: Roger Federer's signature Wilson 15 pack tennis bag

287 weeks, 287 tennis shoes in honor of Roger Federer, \$287.

Serena Williams. Supercharged.

John Isner rocks his croc in Newport.